

Allen Creek Greenway Conservancy

The Allen Creek Greenway is 2.3 miles of proposed urban trail through the heart of Ann Arbor, MI, connecting residential neighborhoods and downtown to an extensive network of existing nature and recreation trails. This bicycle and pedestrian pathway will provide a safe corridor for non-vehicular traffic; create green, open community space in the downtown core; and provide an opportunity to develop the Allen Creek Valley with provisions for sustainable flood management and reducing runoff to the Huron River.
